KING CARED NOT FOR LITERATURE

Belgrade.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—European politics did not greatly interest the Serbian kings before Peter, if the contents of the royal library can be regarded as throwing light on the studies of the kingdom's rulers. No books of importance on political subjects were acquired before Peter's accession, but a very respectable number were added to the library in the 12 years of his reign.

Another department of the library dating from his time is looked upon by the German and Austro-Hungarian conquerors of the city as significant. It is devoted to catalogues and works of general information concerning great arms factories of the world including Putiloff, Creusot, Armstrong, and Krupp. Many excellent pictures are included in this department.

Most of the treasures and furnishings of the Konak (royal palace) were removed when the royal family left the city, but the library was left behind. A Vienna librarian, for the last 15 years in charge of the oriental language department of the Vienna royal library, has been entrusted with the cataloguing of the Serbian royal library. He told the Associated Press representative some interesting details about the collection.

The oldest book in the library, which is neither of great extent nor great worth, dates from 1580, and is in German. Few old Serbian books were found. The books acquired before the reign of Alexander are chiefly of the sort found in any middle class family's library. They are chiefly in French. The books added during Alexander's reign are mainly fiction. No books of political importance were acquired by him.

An interesting collection dating from this period comprises vast numbers of amatory poems written by women and children in praise of Queen Draga, who appears to have been greatly beloved by the common people. In the same department are many musical compositions, chiefly military marches, dedicated to King Alexander. Many of these, according to the librarian, were rather triumphs of musical mnemonics than original compositions of worth.

A visitors' register kept by the Serbian royal librarian shows that the great majority of visitors consisted of British students of the Balkan question. They appear to have made extended use of the books available.

All political books have been sent to Vienna, where they will be studied for any matter of importance to the conquerors.

Bandits in Mongolia.

Peking.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Bandits have become so active in inner Mongolia and have been so successful in resisting the Chinese army that the government now refuses to issue passports for inner Mongolia and for much of China proper lying near the Mongolian border. Many robberies have been committed near Kalgan and Dolon-nor. Kalgan is less than one hundred miles northwest of Peking, while Dolon-nor is about one hundred and fifty miles north of the Chinese capital.

China organized a Mongolian guard of about eight thousand soldiers some time ago. Practically all this guard has deserted and taken its arms over to the bandits. Loyal troops have been sent from other parts of China within the last month, and rumors have reached Peking that their conflicts with the bandits have been very disastrous to the regular organization. Reports are constantly reaching Peking concerning the robbery of missionaries and other foreigners in the Mongolian section.

Captain Isaac Newell, U. S. A., military attaché of the American legation, and representatives of other legations, have recently been to Kalgan making inquiries concerning the situation in inner Mongolia. Their investigations indicate that travel is likely to be unsafe in Mongolia for some time.

Travelers returning from the troubled section all say that the bandits are unusually well provided with modern arms and ammunition. Many of the rifles used by the outlaws are of Japanese manufacture and practically new.

Chinese newspapers and many Chinese officials charge the Japanese with promoting the Mongolian disturbances in support of their opposition to the monarchial movement.

No Politics in Navy, Says Daniels.

New York, Jan. 15.—There is not and can be no politics in the navy, said Secretary Daniels, speaking before the National Democratic club today, on the subject of national preparedness. Dixon, Ill.—E. L. Bailey, for the last four years general secretary of the Dixon Y. M. C. A., has resigned and will go to Jackson, Mich., to take up work there as general secretary.

DAMES OF TITLE COOK GRUB FOR TOMMY ATKINS

London, Jan. 15.—It would be highly interesting to see a complete list of the exalted dames and damsels who, instead of playing bridge, motor, and skating at Prince's, "as usual," are now in France and working at the various canteens, kitchens, recreation huts, and other institution stores for the benefit of Tommy Atkins which have been opened by the Y. M. C. A. which has justified its existence in the present crisis if it ever has before.

The latest aristocratic worker in this line is Lady Bridget Coke, youngest daughter of the Earl of Leicester, who has just gone to France to work in a Y. M. C. A. refreshment booth. A pretty, vivacious girl, Lady Bridget has been active in war work for some time, and meanwhile her three brothers are serving their king in the army and navy.

Lady Bridget is a soldier's daughter and a member of an exceptionally interesting family. Her mother, whose good looks she inherits, was a daughter of the second Lord Annaly, and has the reputation of being one of the most accomplished skaters in England.

Lady Bridget's father, the third Earl of Lancaster, is among the wealthiest of nobles, and previous to his retirement from the service saw a lot of hard fighting. As a member of the Scots guards he went through the Egyptian war in 1882, taking part in the action of Mahuta and the battle of Tel-el-Kemir, for which he was awarded the medal with clasp and the khedive's star. Three years later he accompanied the Scots guards in the expedition to the Sudan and took part in the engagements at Hasheen and Temal.

During the Transvaal war Viscount Coke, as he was then, officiated as commander at Orange river, and took part in several fierce engagements, in which he was mentioned in dispatches and received the C. M. G. He married Lord Annaly's daughter in 1879, and has three sons and two daughters.

Quite the most interesting of recently announced engagements is that of John Richard Lowndes French, eldest son of Field Marshal Sir John French, the renowned commander of the British forces on the western front.

He is to marry Miss Olivia Mary John, youngest daughter of the late Major General John, and the adopted child of the Countess of Charlemont, whose noble husband, Viscount Charlemont, went in for munitions making a few months ago, but overdid it and was ordered by his doctor to quit. Miss John is a pretty and clever girl who is a favorite in society.

Lady Cadogan at Front.

A handsome society woman who is vitally interested in all the war service is Lady Theodosia Cadogan, whose husband, the Hon. Alexander Cadogan, is the seventh child of the late peer of that title. She herself is a daughter of the fourth Earl of Gosford, and previous to her marriage in 1912 was Lady Theodosia Acheson.

Her husband is a distinguished member of the diplomatic service. Her elder brother, Viscount Acheson, is in the Coldstream guards and was recently mentioned in dispatches, and her younger brother, the Hon. Patrick Acheson, is a lieutenant in the navy.

Lady Theodosia in peace times is reckoned one of the best golfers in society. Sargent's portrait of herself and her two sisters under an orange tree was, a few years ago, one of the successes of the summer exhibition at the Royal academy. The Earl of Gosford, Lady Theodosia's father, is an Irish nobleman, whose years today number 73.

SEEKS VACATION OF COURT RULING

Attorney Eagle Advances Interesting Point in Case He Tries in Moline City Tribunal.

JURISDICTION IS QUESTIONED

Litigation Involves Parties Living Outside of Zone of Authority Position Taken.

In Moline city court this afternoon a motion was filed by Attorney E. L. Eagle that judgment in the cause of William Lound against P. J. Lauren be set aside and vacated. The question probably will not be argued until a later date. Outcome of Attorney Eagle's action is of interest to legal lights of Moline and, in fact, every city of Illinois where a city court is maintained.

Principal reason for Attorney Eagle asking Judge G. O. Dietz to withdraw his ruling in the case is that the litigation arose outside of the city, both principals involved in the fight for possession of certain mining property residing five miles beyond the city limits, and that authority gathered from supreme court decisions in similar cases specifically states that the city court has no jurisdiction in cases arising outside of the city in which the court is located. The statutes provide that the city court shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the circuit court in cases arising in the city and in cases appealed from justices of the peace in the city.

Mr. Eagle contends that if the statutes were interpreted by Judge Dietz to mean that the city court has jurisdiction in cases appealed from a local justice of the peace, even though they arise outside of the city, this law appears to be unconstitutional under supreme court decisions, which say that the city court has jurisdiction in cases originating in places other than where the court is conducted.

In the Moline case Lound brought suit against Lauren to get possession of mining land outside the city, which the plaintiff owns, claiming that the lessee did not live up to terms of the contract. In a justice court verdict was found for the defendant and appeal was taken to the city court, Judge Dietz ruling for the plaintiff, and Lauren was forced to vacate the property.

Attorney Eagle does not question the ruling of Judge Dietz, but he saw where the law might be faulty and his idea is to have this made a test case, so that the question of jurisdiction will be settled there for all time.

QUIET ON FRONT WILL BE BROKEN

London.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The comparative quiet which has reigned on the western front ever since the British offensive of September, is soon to be broken, according to the prophecies of all military experts, by an elaborate German offensive along the whole front.

All reports from Belgium concur in announcing that the German attack is being planned for January. During the past few days, long convoys of munitions have been pouring toward the advanced German positions in Flanders, and fresh arrivals of troops from the eastern front are constantly recorded. According to the stories which are current, Emperor William himself will be on hand to superintend operations.

A correspondent at the British front states that the preliminaries for the great offensive are already under way, and that a noticeable change has come over the whole front. Heavy German guns are again in action, and there is a distinct difference in the character of the German troops which are manning the front trenches. Instead of the new recruits which have been stationed for some time in these positions, veteran soldiers from Poland have now appeared and have made their presence known by creeping up to the barbed wire entanglements where they left a placard in English which read: "We have come back from Warsaw to give you hell!"

There can constantly be heard from behind the German lines the tumult of trains bringing up men and munitions, the rumble of heavy artillery and the tramping of constantly arriving battalions.

Air Raid on Saloniki.

Paris, Jan. 15.—A Havas dispatch from Athens says that on Wednesday a squadron of German aeroplanes from the direction of Uskup, made another raid over the camp of the allies at Saloniki. Bombs were dropped on the French positions, but did no damage, according to the dispatch, which adds that French aeroplanes drove the raiders off.

SUCCESS OF NEW HIGHWAY ASSURED

Rock Island Division of Burlington Way Gaining in Popularity. Committee Says.

FUNDS INCREASING IN SIZE

Farmers Who Own Property Along Road to Be Improved Awakening to Possibilities of Project.

That the success of the Rock Island division of the Burlington way, the new good roads' movement being promoted by Rock Island men, is now assured, is a statement which comes from the local committee today. Members said that it is now only a question of time and work among better highway boosters to bring to attention the object of their campaign.

Following is the statement issued:

"The good roads' committee of the Rock Island division of the Burlington way held a meeting in the State bank building yesterday and are pleased to report that they are meeting with every encouragement in their canvass for funds. The people realize that they have been handicapped for years on account of the bad condition of roads leading into Rock Island from the south. In view of this fact, it is earnestly hoped that every public spirited citizen will interest himself in the extent of cooperating with the committee, and members of which are unselfishly devoting their time to the good roads movement.

Want Farmers' Interest.

"We feel now that the success of the Rock Island division is only a question of time. As soon as we increase the funds to a larger amount, we will have accomplished the bigger part of our task. With this money to show our good faith, we will be able to better secure the cooperation of the farmer in front of whose property the highway leads.

"The present committee will be increased in number in the near future and this will mean that we will have an active bunch of men with their shoulders to the wheel pushing the project along in an industrious way, so that we will soon see the results of our labors."

The directors stated that the contemplated improvement is daily gaining more friends and that the farmers are awakening to the possibilities it holds in store for them.

Sweden Watching American Ships.

Stockholm, Sweden.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Allegations that German agents are trying to smuggle copper and other contraband from the United States into Germany by shipping it first to a Swedish port disguised as unprohibited foodstuffs have resulted in the stricter surveillance of all incoming ships by the Swedish government.

The Andrew Welch, an American steamer which arrived recently at Halmstad from Philadelphia is still detained at the former port pending detailed examination of an alleged cargo of beans.

She was sighted off Halmstad, cruising about for no apparent reason, and when questioned by the commander of a Swedish torpedo boat the captain said he had orders to wait there. Soon afterwards a large German tug came up to the sound and made for the Andrew Welch. The captain of the tug was equally ignorant of the reason for sending him to a point off Halmstad, but denied that he had a rendezvous with the American ship.

The Swedish naval authorities thereupon brought the Andrew Welch into Halmstad and the German tug disappeared in a southerly direction. A cursory examination of the Andrew Welch showed that she carried beans but members of the crew told the Swedish inspectors that the weight of the bags had caused some comment among them, and "they thought there might be other things inside."

Enormous quantities of non-contraband foodstuffs from America have been going into Germany from Sweden during the last six weeks, including preserved fruits from the Pacific coast, coffee and tea. Imports of American coal are increasing, owing to the continued ban on British coal by the British coal by the British government. Germany is sending cargoes of Belgium coal from Liebeck and Stettin to Malmö but it is of inferior quality and the demand for American coal is proving. Ten thousand tons arrived at Malmö this week.

The activity of British commercial agents, whom the Swedes call "commercial spies," has caused great irritation here. Several have been expelled because of their activity in "shadowing" cargoes unloaded at Gothenburg and other ports. American buyers are carefully watched and their negotiations with Swedish business men followed in detail.
